Planners Hold Hearing Tonight on New Zone

"Controlled Manufacturing", a phrase that promises soon to become a by-word in local planning and industrial circles, gets its first public hearing airing tonight at the Planning Commission meeting.

A public hearing is scheduled at the meeting tonight on whether "Controlled Manufacturing" should be come part of the zoning picture of Campbell. The Commission will meet at 7:30 p.m. at the City Hall.

The public hearing on the establishing of a Controlled Manufacturing District is a direct result of the study by a joint committee of the City of Campbell and the Town of Los Gatos.

Commissioner James A. Tomlinson and Homer H. Hyde were Campbell's representatives on the committee that recommended the new zoning for an industrial park area that would overlap the borders of both Los Catos and Campbell. Nestor Barrett. planning consultant for both cities, served as advisor. The Planning Commission subsequently approved the adoption of the zoning.

No Location Yet

Although the report of the joint committee pinpointed the area where CM would apply, Sam O'Brien, Planning Commission chairman, has announced that the public hearing tonight will not deal with any location. It will simply set the machinery in motion to make it possible to set up the zone when and where desired, he has emphasized.

Discussion on the location of the zone will come at a later date, the chairman adds.

Opposition to some of the stringent restrictions that are included in this new type of zoning has already arisen. Indications are that the meeting will be packed tonight with interested parties from both sides of the planning fence.

Two Acre Minimum

One of the restrictions recommended in the new zone is that the minimum lot size shall be two acres.

A group of 28 property owners in the area recently annexed to Campbell that has been considered as a possible CM zone, filed a letter this week, with the Planning Commission asking that their sector be eliminated from the restrictions of CM and be zoned M-1-S (light industrial) with no restrictions on Lot size.

The petition was presented to the Commission through the Campbell Chamber of Commerce whose manager, Sam Cava, was instrumental in getting the property owners to become a part of Campbell through annexation proceedings.

The covering letter from the C.of C. reports that only six of the 28 property owners involved have two or more acres.

North of East Parr

The area described in the petition consists of that territory north of East Parr, leaving the southern portion of the industrial park which borders on the city limits of Los Gatos available for the more restrictive type of zoning.

The public hearing on CM overshadows the other items on the agenda for the City Planners tonight.

On the Agenda

These include: A request from the building inspector for interpretation of Ordinance No. 43 in its relationship to the property of F. E. Johnson, 347 W . Rincon Ave., which is partially landlocked.

Request for approval of plans for Sanitation District No. 4 for buildings at its new location in the industrial park area of Campbell.

Request for approval of the Quito Ranch subdivision and the Charles Rose subdivision.

Request for approval of a garage and warehouse building for H. Gordon Hunt on S. Winchester Road.

Approval of resolution of a change in the meeting date from first and third Thursday to first and third Tuesday.

Adoption of resolution of intention to change the zone for the P. G. Keith subdivision on E. Latimer Ave. The request is for a change from single-family residential to multiple dwelling.

Pickets Pulled

Pickets who have been patrolling the Twin Cities Mfg. Co., on Railway Ave. in Campbell since April 6 were pulled from the line Wednesday afternoon after a temporary injunction to halt the picketing had been issued.

The injunction was filed against the Upholsters International Union, Local 28, AFL jointly by the Twin Cities Mfg. Co., and the Independent Union of Santa Clara County.

Basis for the injunction, which will be heard in court next Tuesday, is that an independent union has been formed by the employees and has signed a contract with the firm as the sole bargaining agent.

Baccalaureate Set For Sunday Here

Baccalaureate services for graduating seniors of Campbell High School will be held Sunday. June 9, at 5 p.m. in the school auditorium. The address, "Life is a Challenge", will be delivered by the Rev. William T. Halstead, rector of St. Edwards Mission, Episcopal Church of Cambrian Park.

Invocation and Benediction will be given by the Rev. Thomas A. Ahern of St. Lucy's Church.

The program will open with the school's string orchestra playing the processional, "Ave Verum Corpus," by Mozart under the direction of Frank Triena. The entire orchestra will play "Air" from Suite in D by Bach, and the recessional. "March Noble".

A cappella choir selections will be "Jesus, Our Lord, We Adore Thee", "God is a Spirit", and "The Lord Bless You and Keep You."

Mrs. Earl Handley, of Old Orchard Road, Campbell. has been named as a new member on the Santa Clara County Advisory Board for Guide Dogs for Blind.

Residents Ask City to Control Trucking Firm

Campbell's own 'whodunit', "The Case of the Missing Fence" took on a more serious aspect this week when irate residents adjacent to the Nelson Bros. Trucking officially accused the trucking firm of being a public nuisance and requested that the City Council regulate the company's operation for the benefit of the community.

But it will not be until the Council's next meeting, June 17, that any definite action will be taken on the protests of the people. At the request of City Attorney Joseph Bonacina the City Council defered action until that time.

Friction between the trucking firm and the adjoining residents has been brewing over the years. The residents claim that the noise and dirt raised by the concern depreciates their residential property and also affects the peace and quiet of the neighborhood because the trucks operate on a 24-hour basis.

Missing Fence

The matter came to ahead at a City Council meeting two weeks ago when the residents charged that a fence allegedly promised by the firm to hide the trucking company's yard from the residential area, had not been forthcoming.

The residents further claimed through their spokesman, Robert W. Harris, 400 Hawthorne Ave., that Nelson Bros. was in violation of the city's zoning ordinance. The firm, which has been in the same location for 14 years, operates under a non-conforming use permit which was in effect with the city before it was incorporated. The residents maintain that the company has expanded its operation since the issuance of the use permit and thus would come under city control.

Because of this accusation, the City Council directed City Attorney Bonacina to investigate the operation and assertain whether there was a violation.

Public Nuisance

This week the added charge that the trucking company was a public nuisance was leveled by the residents in a petition signed by approximately 60 residents of the affected area which extends to Poplar Ave., and includes Hawthorne, Maple and El Patio.

A delegation of residents attended the City Council meeting Monday but were limited in developing of their latest charges by the deferment action of the Council. City Attorney Bonacina promised to have a full report on his investigation at the next meeting.

In asking for the deferment, Bonacina told the Council that he was waiting for a report from W. L. (Bud) Morser, city building inspector as to the possible non-conforming use extensions.

The deferment did not set too well with the 30 residents of the area who were in attendance at the meeting.

Bonacina also told the Council that he had informed the counsel retained by the trucking company, that he was asking for deferment and consequently the firm's attorney was not present.

Harris, acting again as spokesman for the residents asked why his group had not been told a deferment would be asked for, inasmuch as it probably had inconvenienced a number of residents.

Harris Overruled

He said he was not an attorney and that Rudy Nelson, of the trucking firm, was in the audience and he saw no reason why the discussion could not be taken up at the meeting. He was overruled by Mayor John M. Chargin, who explained that this

Eastfield Gets O.K.

Child Welfare Center to Locate Here

A child welfare center is to be located on the outskirts of Campbell if present plans are carried out.

Santa Clara County Planning Commission Wednesday voted its intention to issue a use permit for Eastfield (formerly called Home of Benevolence) to establish its facilities on a five-acre site at the corner of Latimer and Llewellyn Avenues in Campbell but outside the city limits.

The permit is expected to be granted at the next meeting.

Eastfield, long established child welfare center, plans to build two cottages for children 6 to 12 who lack a normal home life, according to Mrs. Wesley Lindsay, president of the board of directors. Each cottage will accomodate ten children.

Preliminary building plans have been approved and Higgins and Root, architects, are now working on structural and elementary details.

"The new site is in a good area, near good schools, is conveninet to transportation and is semi-rural," Mrs. Don S. Fuller, chairman of the building committee said.

The planned cottages will be comtemporary in style, built of stucco and concrete block with redwood trim. Each is planned for maximum efficiency, supervision and liveability, and minimum cost of maintenance, Mrs. Fuller explained.

Eastfield, which is a Red Feather service, is the oldest welfare institution in Santa Clara County and has been a haven for thousands of children since it was established 90 years ago.

In 1955, Eastfield Board of Directors requested the Child Welfare League of America, an outstanding authority on child care, to make a study of child welfare care.

In carrying out recommendations of the Child Welfare League, Eastfield closed its large congregate building on 12th and Margaret Streets, San Jose, and moved into a rented cottage on Alum Rock Avenue, pending construction of new permanent cottages.

The small-group living program at the Alum Rock cottages which provides individual care for each child, will be continued at the proposed new cottages here in Campbell.

Street Confuses - It's Par for Parr

Meandering East Parr Ave., in the new industrial park area of Campbell, caused a serious misundertanding at the Council meeting Monday night.

A letter filed with the Council by a group of property owners in the area asked that the City assist them in forming an Assessment District to get the necessary improvements. They also stipulated that they wanted no restrictions as to lot size in the area.

East Parr was listed as the southern boundary but the letter failed to state which part of Parr.

The property owners meant the northern tip of East Parr and not the southern point as the confused street after running east and west makes a short north-south jaunt before starting east-west again.

The southern part of East Parr adjoins property that is planned to have the highest type of industrial zoing restrictions, including the controversial two-acre minimum lot size. The Council wanted to be sure that that section was not affected by the request.

PLENTY HOT

Unofficially the thermometer raised to 94 on Tuesday . . . in the shade. But officially it wasn't supposed to have been more than 89. Still it was plenty hot.

Building Spurt Appears Under Way in Campbell

That a building spurt was definitely under way in Campbell was indicated this week with the report by the city building inspector's office that permits valued at $529,612 had been issued during May.

Although single-family dwellings (37 permits) predominated the list of permits for May, previous permits issued for apartment houses, other multiple dwellings now being constucted and plans on the drafting boards for still others, reveal that this phase of the local building is also keeping up an accelerated pace.

On Dunster Drive, for example (see above picture) one 26-unit apartment is fast-nearing completion, a 14-unit job is ready to start and another 10-unit is being planned for one side of the street back of Lee Bros. Market. On the opposite side of the street, four 3-unit apartments are under construction with two more triplexes slated to start soon.

The Trojan Construction Co., led the building permit parade during May. Permits for 27 dwellings, valued at $11,058 and $11,370 each, for the Los Ranchitos Tract were issued for homes on La Pradera, W. Campbell Ave., Villarita, and Ensenada Drive.

For the Coventry Village Tract, Dura Style Homes, received nine permits for homes ranging from $9,500 to $10,288. The nine homes are all located on N. Victor Ave.

Included in the total of 37 was the permit issued to William Elliott, Jr., for $14,796 for a dwelling at 800 N. Monica Lane.

In contrast to the previous months, only two permits for multiple dwellings were issued. F. V. Shoemake took one out for a 4-unit apartment at Cherry Lane and Winchester Road, while Carroll Christiansen was issued a permit for a 14-unit apartment at 300 Dunster Drive.

Other permits issued to bring the total of all permits to the highest for the year included: P.G.&E., E. Hamilton Ave., $3,000, substation; John Lorenz, 357 N. Central, patio addition, $480; Bob Kurtz, 251 E. Campbell, demolition; Clyde Harris, 89 N. Hardy Ave., laundry room; J. H. Drake, 200 N. Second St., patio, $170; L. Pritchard, 425 N. San Jose-Los Gatos Road, office building, $9,000; Clyde Fischer, 231 E. Campbell, remodel porch, $550; Mrs. O. C. Dodge, 415 E. Campbell, remodel storage room, $10,000; City Sheet Metal, 241 S. Railway, quonset building, $8,640; Raymond Sargis, 394 N. Richlee, patio addition, $480.

To Go "Pro" All the Way . . .

Chamber of Commerce Keeps Trying

To survive in this day and age, the Campbell Chamber of Commerce must lose its amateur standing and go profesional all the way.

The change in thinking of people in recent years has made this change in status necessary, even to the collection of membership dues.

This was the consensus of the loyal few who attended the near-wake of the Chamber of Commerce held Tuesday night at the City Hall.

Still Alive

Despite the poor representation of local business people at this "desperation meeting" of the Campbell Chamber of Commerce, constructive suggestions offered by those present indicated to the directors that holding funeral rites for the financially-ill C. of C. might still be somewhat premature.

It was also the considered optimistic opinion of the board members at the close of the meeting that should some of the suggestions prove successful, the demise of the Chamber might possibly be permanently delayed.

The general meeting of both members and non-members who were interested in keeping alive the Chamber of Commerce was attended by only 30 people, although notices had been sent to more than 300.

Despite the small attendance, Douglas Beatty, C. of C. president, who presided at the gathering, voiced optimism over the results and indicated that immediate steps would be taken to carry out some of the suggestions made.

Retain Cava

Based on the opinions expressed, it was felt that continuing the employment of Sam P. Cava, as a paid full-time secretary-manager, was vital to the community. A review of the activities of the revitalized Chamber of Commerce during the 17 months that Cava has been the paid manager clearly showed that progress has been made and that the community would suffer should his services be discontinued.

The directors also decided that professionals should be employed in the solicitation of members. This revolutionary action, as far as Campbell was concerned, came as a direct result of the suggestion of Richard Morton, city councilman but who was attending the meeting, he pointed out, in his capacity of a practicing attorney only.

Only 87 members of a potential of 300 have paid their dues to the Chamber. This lag in the dues-paying department has been the chief cause of the financial predicament in which the Chamber has found itself, Beatty reported.

Get Help

The directors also got a lift at the meeting when Herm Sota, of Bob Coyle Used Cars, Eddie Wright, manager of Lee Bros. Market, Robert Houston, real estate agent, and Verle Grizzle, jeweler, offered their services (which were gratefully received) to the directors to stage a whirlwind drive in their respective areas to obtain new memberships in order to aid the C. of C. in its immediate financial difficulties.

During the discussion period a number of points were raised as to how the C. of C. could better assist the community as a whole and in addition a number of other suggestions were made where the Chamber could improve business conditions.

Many Speak Out

R. L. Townsend, one of the new industrialists who plans to locate in the new industrial park of Campbell, suggested a 'Buy in Campbell' campaign to benefit merchants. Townsend, who has worked closely with Cava in the long and involved annexation proceedings, also added that he felt that the Campbell Chamber was offering services that many bigger groups were unable to do.

On the other hand, Dobie Jeffers, a long-time C. of C. member and owner of a men's wear store maintained that the Chamber was the backbone of the community but felt that it need not promote business for the local merchants.

Bob Houston criticized the lack of courtesy he had noticed among city employees and thought the Chamber could assist in improving these conditions.

Mrs. Connie Russo suggested that the obtaining of bigger stores, especially a department store, would help all merchants.

Eddie Wright felt that the lack of enthusiasm and cooperation among the merchants for projects and promotions was one of the weaknesses of the town.

Mrs. Emily McConnell, owner of Rachel's Dress Shop, while agreeing that a department store would help the community, asserted that her store carried a big stock with prices that in many cases were lower than in larger establishments.

Bill Means, of Campbell Drugs and Clark's Drugs, thought that the Chamber should attempt to obtain memberships from the various landlords in the community because they were directly benefitting from the activities of the Chamber of Commerce.

Mayor John M. Chargin, who was present at the meeting, "set the record straight" on some of the accusations that the city delayed annexations and explained some of the problems facing the city. He claimed that "apathy" of the residents was the greatest handicap to overcome.

Thayer Lyon, general contractor, a long-time resident of Campbell wondered just what was meant by "apathy". What had happened to the enthusiasm of the residents that had been so evident in the past. He thought that "apathy" as a word ("Is it a disease?" he wanted to know) had been greatly overworked.

W. L. Campbell, of Campbell Auto Electric, while admitting that he was not a member of the Chamber, thought that local merchants could improve business conditions if they themselves made an effort to trade among themselves more than they do.

George Vierhus, editor and publisher of The Press and a director of the C.of C. heatedly pointed out, in answer to Campbell, that this apparent lack of interest on his part in the Chamber itself by not joining was one of the main woes of the organization. (Editor's note: He also said a few other things but was not taking notes at the time. —G.V.)

More Fireworks

Two more fireworks permits were issued by the City Council Monday night, upon the recommendation of Fire Chief Scott, but another application was denied making 10 spots in Campbell where fireworks can be purchased for the Glorious Fourth.

Fireworks can be sold in the city limits between June 28 and July 4 under stringent regulations imposed by the state.

Approved Monday was the perennial permit for Paul Knoll at the corner of San Jose-Los Gatos Road and Hamilton and a newcomer to the field, Larry Davis for Barbano Drive at E. Campbell Ave.

Turned down because of the unreasonable traffic hazard involved was the second permit for Davis for a location near the entrance of the West Valley Disposal Grounds on San Jose-Los Gatos Road.

Polio Clinics Now Open to Everyone

Polio clinics, resumed May 27 on a limited basis, will now take everyone on a first come, first served basis, the Santa Clara County Health Department announced this week.

Because the health department is setting up clinics in many communities not previously covered, no clinic is planned for Campbell until late July or early August.

Campbell people wanting to take advantage of the free polio vaccinations can get their injections at the Santa Clara County Health Department, 2220 Moorpark Ave. on Wednesdays from 2 to 4 p.m.

The clinics are designed particularly for adults from 20 to 40 years old, especially parents of young children, but no one will be turned away if he or she is under or over that age group.

Eight Camden Cadets To Visit Encampment

Arriving at Camp San Luis Obispo on June 15, will be eight Camden cadets. These cadets have been chosen to represent Camden in the yearly encampment at San Luis Obispo.

In order to qualify for this trip, these cadets are required to pass the "basic proficiency" test to prove their military knowledge and understanding. Those who pass the test are qualified to apply for the camp quota, which was eight this year.

Those attending are: juniors, Joe McLaughlin, Jim Topham; sophomores, Bob Weitzel, Jim Teichner, Leonard Pung, Fred Berry and Bob Elliot; and freshman, Alan Roth.

"Protect America's Freedom"
Prize-Winning Essay by Local High School Youth Shows Clear Thinking

Editor's Note: First prize in the essay contest recently conducted by the American Legion Auxiliary went to John Kriewall, a senior at Campbell High. He received a $25 bond for the essay on "Protect American Freedom" and his essay also took second prize in the 13th district of the Auxiliary. Mrs. Bernard Barrett was chairman of the essay contest for the Campbell Auxiliary.

The Press takes pleasure in publishing the prize-winning essay as an illustration of the clear thinking of today's teenagers.

PROTECT AMERICA'S FREEDOM
By John Kriewall

"Protect America's freedom," the crier calls out. The sleeping American rouses from his slumber, and turns over, trying to escape the sound. His hazy mind wonders at what could be disturbing him, but with no answer, falls back into the security of a dream world. Again the plea is sounded "Protect America's freedom." Now he is awake. He is indignant because his solitude has been upset. He doesn't want to be bothered by such foolishness. He thinks, since America has her freedom, and has had it for a long time, that it's not in danger - that it's a right which will not be taken away.

This kind of thinking will cause America's freedom to be damaged, and eventually lost. It is in danger when people regard it so lightly that they give no thought to protecting it.

An educated people, a people taught to think, will not let this lackadaisical attitude to envelop them. Taught to think, they will regard freedom as a privilege, not as a right. That is why I am convinced that the key to protecting America's freedom is through education, not only in America, but throughout the world.

Education has to begin in the home. From a child's earliest possible age, he must be taught respect and obedience. It is the parents' duty to bring their child up in the atmosphere of an active love for freedom.

The school is the ideal place for molding the young American for later life. It is imperative that he be given an education, not stressing memory of fact upon fact, but one which will stimulae the student to use his mind to think. If we as Americans are not taught to think, we will soon follow the path of an individual earlier described.

The student must be given the seeds of the attributes of a good thinker. There are the seeds of leadership, and also of followship, of cooperation, of sharing, of self control, and of responsibility. The seeds must be nourished to sprout, and then cultivated so their fruits will come forth in later life.

This program of education would, however, if used only in America, only partially protect our freedom. The other nations of the world must share our interests, and desire to work with us and we with them. Security in America can only be reached if the rest of the world is secure. Through education, men can reach mutual understanding necessary to live in a world of cooperation with shared concerns, thus protecting America's freedom.

City Council to Make Changes in Fire Zones

Campbell's City Council acted to change the fire zones of the City by orinances and adopted three other zone-change ordinances on Monday night.

The City Dads deffered action until the next meeting on still another ordinance that would amend the setback line to 15-feet from the present 25-feet on streets where plan lines have been established.

Given the second and final reading were the zone-change for Cosmo Perrotta, Sondeno-Dahl and Charles Rose.

The Council also referred jointly to the city attorney and the Planning Commission a request to from an Improvement District in the industrial park area.

The budget request of the Chamber of Commerce was referred to the budget committee.

would not be fair to the Nelsons.

Councilman Richard Morton put Harris on the spot when he said that Harris should be allowed to present his case provided that it was entirely new but that it would not be fair to the people he represented, or to the Nelsons, if he included any of the previous charges in his presentation.

Harris then contented himself with exhibiting a map of the area and citing records to prove that Foote St., used (and often blocked, according to the residents) by Nelson Bros. was a public right-of-way and not a privately-owned street as, they claimed, had been alleged.

Nelson, of the accused firm, then made his only statement of the meeting. He denied that his company had ever claimed that Foote St. was a private road.

Petition Filed

Specifically the petition that was filed by the residents claims that the trucking company is a public nuisance because its continuous noise is adversely affecting the health of the residents and that it is operating against the general welfare of the community. The people also claim that having the trucks travel the residential streets constitutes a traffic hazard. They are asking that the City Council take steps to regulate the operation.

"We do not want it to be construed that we are attempting to put the Nelsons out of business," Harris said, "but we feel that the people who live in the area adjacent to the operation have a right to ask for protection."

HEADS POLIO GROUP

Members of the Board of Directors, Santa Clara County Chapter, National Foundation Infantile Paralysis, this week elected Joseph A. Chargin, Jr. to serve as Chapter Chairman for the next fiscal year. Other officers elected at the same meeting were Earl A. Moorhead, vice-chairman; Frank C. Mitchell, treasurer; and Mrs. Bernice Wank, secretary.

Campbell Gridders Eye SCVAL Title

By Gary Prnjak

The Campbell Gridders, showing that they may be in line for an SCVAL Championship next season are taking part in physical and mental workouts for the chance to be the next SCVAL champions.

The varsity backfield are working mostly on ball control and plays. The Bucs will be well supplied with quarterbacks. They are Walt Vierra, Bob Whitewing, Ron Corbus, and Bill Ratledge.

Coach Marotti is teaching the linemen the fundamentals of blocking and pulling. Coach Bunger is eyeing the great prospects he will have at ends next year. Some of them are Dave Smith, the only returning letterman the coach will have; Bill Compton and Jim Omura are second string on SCVAL lightweights last year. There are more prospects that will be fighting for the starting berth.

Coach Marotti will also have many prospects; some are Vern Walton, who lettered as a Soph but moved away last year, Danny Grannis, Jim Mallman, Jerry Fuller, Tim Gallagher, Tom Farley, anoher returning letterman at center, and Pat Conners up from the 30's.

Two Teams Tie For League Lead In Softball Loop

After the second week of play in the Campbell Softball League, Towne Pride and Sisemore Construction were tied for first place honors with two wins each and no defeats.

Towne Pride shut out St. John's during the week by a 5-0 count, meantime playing errorless ball and collecting eight hits. Ron Hindley of Towne Pride struck out 9 in pitching a two-hitter. Olivarri was the losing pitcher. Ingram and Hindley led the TP hitters with two hits each while Smith helped the cause with a timely single in the second inning which drove in two runs.

Sisemore took Healey Motors into camp in a pitchers duel between Calabray of Sisemore and Brown of Healey. The final score was 2 -1 with Sisemore getting five hits and Healey four. Each side made one error. Calabray chalked up seven strtikeouts in winning his second game in three starts.

In the other contest of the week, Western Gravel staved off a last inning rally by Mac's Market to win 5-4. Although Mac's Market got one more hit than Western Gravel (5 to 4) they couldn't put across the clincher.

Kliest of Mac's relieved Madrid on the mound in the second inning and struck out nine. Madrid was charged with the loss. Hoyt Logan was the winner for Western Gravel. Leading hitters were Fred Niedhardt and Don Kliest of Mac's with two hits each while Western Gravel's bingles were evenly divided. Barkely and Hoyt Logan each batted two runs.

Those who make the worst use of their time are the first to complain of its shortness.

It Takes Both Viewpoints

The importance of industries to a community cannot be overemphasized from our point of view.

Industries bring payrolls and they also provide a wider tax base which is beneficial not only to the tax-levying agency but to taxpayers because it equalizes the load of all.

That the City of Campbell needs industries is a point on which almost everyone in the city is in basic agreement.

But the word "industry" takes in a wide area, for as we all know, the types, sizes and operations vary to an extreme.

At the present time there is considerable discussion over the restrictions that should be placed on and in an industrial area. A new type of zoning, "Controlled Manufacturing," is now under discussion by the City.

Intensive research has gone into the study and recommendation that is now before the city which would put Controlled Manufacturing (CM) on the books.

We have stated before that we believe it is important to have this type of zoning available and we wholeheartedly approve of the restrictions that are included.

There is some question, however, where this type of zoning should be applied.

We are certain that the City Planners are cognizant of this question and realize only too well that CM must be used in areas that lend themselves to it. It is primarily because of this thinking that the institution of this untried zoning has been divided into two phases. First, making it possible to have this kind of industrial regulation; and second, specifying the areas where it will be used.

Naturally, there will be opposition to the restrictions as they apply to certain areas.

Such opposition is only a natural reaction. For example, one of the restrictions would place the minimum size of individual industrial sites at two acres. Those people with small parcels located within a proposed industrial park area will naturally object to such limitations.

It is also obvious that such an acreage restriction would conceivably bring the price of land in an industrial section to a prohibitive point, if an industry would be forced to purchase a group of houses located on residential lots in order to get the required acreage.

Therefore, we caution both city officials and property owners alike to look at the big picture from both a realistic and idealistic point of view.

We are certain that both views are important, if the community as a whole is going to benefit.

The Importance of Industry

Although most people probably recognize the value of industry to a growing area, many are not familiar with the "why".

A recent study describes the importance of industry to a community. We quote from the report that appeared recently in a PG&E brochure:

"Communities need industry to provide employment close to where people live, and to provide an economic base capable of supporting the costs of community services. Without the taxable capital investment of industry, such communities must impose a relatively higher tax rate on home owners.

"An example of the importance of industry to a communitiy lies in a recent study which reveals that a new industry locating in a community and employing 200 people will support nearly 400 new homes, 33 stores and shops, 24 professional men, 18 teachers, 22 school rooms, 320 autos, $750,000 in retail sales $1,000,000,000 in bank deposits, 1.5 million dollars worth of life insurance, a 2.5 million dollar tax base and production from 6,000 acres of farm land.

(And more important) ... the factory enterprise does not draw its entire support from the incomes of people living in the community. On the contrary, it adds new basic productive facilities and tangible products for EXPORT from the area, thus adding new wealth and new sources of income."

OUT on the LIMB
with George Vierhus

We have been kidded unmercifully his week about the vehicle we inadvertently assigned to the Campbell police department through the medium of a typographical error that appeared in last week's issue.

In the front page column, "on the line", the last item reported: "Harold Miller, 450 Filbert Ave., Campbell, was given a police escort by Officer Carl Arnold to County Hospial Tuesday night in an electric saw. in a electric saw."

Naturally we received a number of calls about this new mode of travel for the local cops.

Such little gems as, "we know why the cops have been buzzing around" or "the police must be really cutting up" or "where do they keep this new vehicle, why haven't we seen it" are some of the better examples of the messages we received.

A number of others were also heard.

Just in case there are still a number of people who perhaps are of the opinion that Officer Carl Arnold does ride an electric saw we hasten to present the item as it should have appeared before the gremlins and type lice went to work on it: (Note to operator and proof reader: For gosh sakes, let's be sure we have it right this time.)

"Harold Miller, 450 Filbert Ave., Campbell, was given a police escort by Officer Carl Arnold to County Hospital Tuesday night after cutting off several fingers in an electric saw."

—o—

Assuming that there are a few of you who would like to know how such an error could come to pass, we assure you that it was not done on purpose.

Here 's what happened: There was an error in the line "in an electric saw" (it read "a electric saw") and the line was corrected but the wrong line was pulled when the correction was put in. You see, when corrections are made in any word, the entire line in which it appears has to be recast on the linotype machine.

As you will note, we have a ready explanation for the occurrence of the error but it doesn't keep our face from getting red.

No, Johnny, the policeman did NOT ride an electric saw.

—o—

While on the subject of electricity we are pleased to report that our popular fellow columnist, Judge John Blaine, some 83 years young, has bowed to this modern age and is knocking out his column on an electric typewriter, we will have you know.

Since the good Judge swung over from the old-style method of production we have been carefully watching his weekly output to see if we could note any appreciable change in style or contents.

As far as we can determine, both the style and contents remain unchanged. The column has been well done from the very first issue and continues to be excellent every week. We enjoy it immensely and know he has many fans.

There are going to be a couple of snide characters around who will crack that maybe we ought to try an electrice typewriter or something to improve our own outpourings weekly. But we choose to ignore them. (After Judge's column, we like to read the stuff that finds its way in "on the limb", even if we have pounded out every word on a typewriter, sans electricity, by the way.)

We are afeered that an electric typewriter would be out of place with us because of the vicious pounding we give these machines day after day. We use our own particular and peculiar system, an intricate combined hunt-and-peck, touch, three-finger plus maneuver, developed through the years.

But we are pleased that Judge Blaine has seen fit to keep up with the times.

We are just too-old-fashioned to change.

—o—

As an added note about Judge Blaine and his typing, he has always used a typewriter in his writing over the years and he has, as you probably know, done a great deal of writing in those years. He told us confidentially that not including his new electric machine, there are five other typewriters around his house of varying degrees in age and condition.

—o—

We have often told you of the stack of mail we receive daily including news(?) releases from various firms, organizations, associations and what not.

Some of the stuff we receive are like old friends. We know what's inside of the envelope. even without opening them. Generally, however, something new makes its appearance among the pieces of mail.

Last week, for example, we received an envelope from the California Chiropractic Associations labeled "News".

Inside was a letter-sized paper also headed "News" with the following note in small type at the top of the page: "The facts herein are from reliable sources carefully checked for accuracy. They are submitted for consideration of their news value only."

We thought that was a very commendable notation.

The only trouble was we didn't have a chance to see if the chiropractors were following through on this "just the facts, ma'am", idea.

Except for the heading, the page was entirely blank.

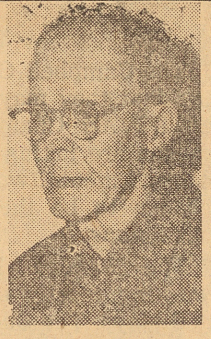
REPRESENTATIVE IN CONGRESS
TENTH DISTRICT, CALIFORNIA

Some of the severest critics of foreign aid come from the rural sections of the United States. Their principal argument follows the line: "Let these countries take care of themselves. Why should somebody else have to do it for them?" Yet, these same areas are the strongest supporters of our five billion dollar annual program for farm price supports. I wonder if the New Yorker couldn't say with equal justification "Why can't these farmers take care of themselves?"

The Rural Electrification Administration was authorized by Executive Order, May 11, 1935 for the purpose of bringing electricity and telephones into the unpopulated farm areas. The legislation authorized 2% loans to Electric Cooperatives over a period of 35 years. The taxpayers' money, which is loaned at 2% is secured by treasury borrowing which today costs the taxpayer 3¼%. The annual loss in interest alone amounts to 35 million dollars.

Today 96% of America's farms are electrified and yet the R.E.A. is requesting $248,629,000 more for 1958. This sum is to be loaned at 2% when it costs youn and I 3¼%. Almost all R.E. A. Cooperatives are rolling in money with tremendous treasury surpluses. They have loaned money to their National Organization at 2½% for the purpose of building a fabulous and profitable building in Washington, and who do you suppose the principal rent paying tenant will be—the U.S. Government. So, in effect, we are paying 35 million dollars a year for the purpose of creating a surplus to R. E. A. Cooperatives, who, in turn, use our money to make still another profit from the general taxpayer.

The R. E. A. Program has been most successful. It should be continued with a realistic and honest adjustment in interest rates. But it seems to me that those who cry "give away" with the loudest voice ought to take a good look at their own activities. People who live in glass houses should not throw stones.



Over the Years

By John D. Blaine

The 65th celebration of Old Settlers' Day has passed into history and is therefore a legitimate subject for this column. And by a stroke of luck this columnist was in the parade himself.

On that cute little reconstructed Model T Fire Truck were all the fire chiefs Campbell Volunteer Fire Department has ever had. Jack Scott, driver, has been chief since 1941. Ed Genasci, seated with Jack, was chief before him. Ethan Lanphear, standing at left at the back, was made chief when the Department was organized in 1913. I was along merely because I was the first secretary.

We were in the fifth division, gathered along Railroad Avenue. Our turn to start did not come until after a wait of perhaps an hour and a quarter. So there was leisure to reflect and talk with chance callers.

That Model T carried my thoughts back over the years to when Ethan Lanphear became chief and we were associated in a general store. We had a Model T delivery truck and took orders and delivered over 40 miles of country roads.

Some day I may tell more about those "full-service" days before cash-and-carry, but just now I want to speak of a part played by Ethan.

Among our patrons was a high school girl considerably on the fat side. Her widowed mother was a nurse and often for days away from home. So Eva had to cook for herself and younger brother and buy accordingly. She was a jolly gal, full of kidding and jokes, and rather slow about deciding what she wanted.

One summer she got a job in San Francisco, and all of us in the store promised to write her a letter. Ethan, clever at poetic verse wrote this:

We are the boards upon the floor
Of Blaine's celebrated Department Store;
We feel the heavy weight no more,
Since Eva left.
We are the chairs on which she'd sit
And wear our corners bit by bit;
We miss her ready flow of wit,
Since Eva left.
We are the cans of food complete
She never knew of which she'd eat;
Before us stands a vacant seat,
Since Eva left.
We are Blaine's clerks that dish the food
To most of Campbell's hungry brood;
We've all contracted a lonesome mood,

Eva and her brother are still alive and associated in business in Carmel Valley. I've heard she still keeps the material we wrote her that summer.

While I was standing in thought on the tailboard of that cute truck a young man stepped up beside me to help pass the time with conversation. In introducing himself he revealed that I had married him and his wife about 15 years ago. I had forgotten all about my former role as marriage maker in the life of a judge.

Back to mind came those mixed feelings with which I had carried on this important responsibility. Much of it was sudden. I might be eating a meal or even taking a bath when word would come, "Couple here wanting to be married." No matter, I never turned a couple away.

Over the years I tried to make my ceremony somewhat a work of art. But at first my ceremony was perhaps startlingly short. It sometimes brought amusing comments. One was this, "The dentist is worse!" Once somebody brought a big laugh by suggesting that I wish the couple many happy returns of the day.

One bride openly complained my ceremony was too short. She had enjoyed many happy returns of the day and so had the man. It was her fourth marriage and his fifth.

Such memories were interrupted by word to start. We got a good hand along the way and in due time reached the reviewing stand. The master of ceremonies asked us to stop, and he described the origin of our cute little Fire Truck.

It was over. Jack Scott put her into high and we sped around toward home at a horrific 20 miles an hour while Ethan and I hung on at the back for dear life. At the last Ed Genasci turned in his seat and said, "Well, we made it." And thus we had become a permanent part of Campbell history.

The world's record catch of albacore occurred in 1912 at Catalina Island when F. Kelly landed a 66 pound four ounce fish.

LAW IN ACTION

UNBIASED JURIES

In the early days of the English common law, juries needed no instructions. They knew the customs and the facts before the trial began. Rather the judges themselves needed instruction, for William the Conqueror had named Norman judges who knew little of English law.

The king's writ directed the sheriff to find the people who knew the facts of the case and bring them into court to serve on the jury. They told the judge not only the facts, but often the local customs.

But for centuries those who know the facts have been called as witnesses, and under our system witnesses cannot serve on the jury. To start out with we want jurors who do not know the facts or the legal principles involved in a given trial.

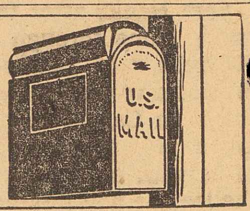
The American colonists knew and liked such impartial juries. It is that type of jury which our constitutions, federal and state, guarantee.

Such a jury needs instruction. Today jurors must ascertain facts from the evidence given at the trial. Because our times are complex, jurors must lean heavily upon the judge to guide them. They look to him for a clear statement of the law of the case.

To see somehow that jurors have in fact no improper information or bias, the law lets lawyers on both sides question jurors on "voir dire." This term comes through old French law to English from Latin (verus dicere, to say the truth).

Just the other day after a trial, a California court of appeals held that a trial court could receive jurors' sworn statements about what happened during their deliberations to show that one juror was biased and had concealed this fact on the "voir dire" examination.

Note: California lawyers offer this column for you to know about our laws.



LETTERS TO THE EDITOR...

PRAISE FOR DICK LOCKE

Editor, The Campbell Press

One doesn't have to go very far in Campbell to hear words of criticism about the City Council, Planning Commission, Police Department, etc. I would like to take this opportunity to praise an auxiliary policeman.

I thought that when the auxiliaries were off duty, that ended that. Not so.

Richard Locke has been an auxiliary policeman for five years, and he and I work together in the same survey party. On May 24, we had a survey to make in Salinas. On the way to Salinas, Dick was telling the crew about one of the Vietenheimer brothers who had just been picked up in Oklahoma. (Both were wanted here.)

On the way home, as Dick was driving, we passed two hitch-hikers. Dick insisted that one of them was the other Vietenheimer brother. We were just outside Morgan Hill, so Dick drove there, got a Morgan Hill policeman and went back to make the arrest. It turned out that the other hitch-hiker, Pepper Mallory, was wanted too. (They had just twenty-nine cents between them . . . who knows what might have happened?)

Dick Locke had never seen these fellows, but recognized them from their "Wanted" pictures. I feel such alertness shouldn't pass unnoticed.

Very truly yours
HOWARD C. PAYNE

P.S. We now call Dick "Sherlocke".

Norton S. Mahon Claimed by Death

Funeral services were held Wednesday at Campbell Memorial Chapel for Norton S. Mahon, 74, who passed away Friday in a rest home. He was a retired employe of Garden City Pottery Company.

Mr. Mahon had lived in the Campbell area for about eight years and made his home at 35 California Street.

He leaves his widow, Leola; three daughters, Mrs. June M. Meader of Pasadena; Mrs. Marjorie Jones of Campbell; and Mrs. Virginia Hedges of Oregon; and five grandchildren.

Interment was in Oak Hill Memorial Park.

Functions Affect Everyone

Building Inspector Tells Why Office Needed

Editor's Note: Because of the widespread interest in the functions of the city's building inspector's office and because its functions, in turn, touch upon every citizen in the City of Campbell, The Press has asked W. L. (Bud) Morser, city building inspector to explain "Why a building inspector anyway?"

Bud, in the following report, touches almost all the bases in a general way. Because there are a number of specific questions on the subject that individuals might want to have answered The Press will be happy to relay these questions to Bud and print the answers in subsequent issues.

We have a couple of dillies we are shooting to him right away? How about you?—G.V.

BUILDING BETTER CITIES

By W. L. (Bud) Morser
(Building Inspector, City of Campbell)

Every time a building official leaves his office to make a field inspection he is adding another stone to the building of a better city. Every time he stops work on an inferior building or enforces the code provisions for safety to life and health in some other manner he is contributing in a major way to the future of his city.

In his enforcement of the building code he must satisfy, first of all, his city's requirements both as to safety to life and as to legal responsibility. Precise enforcement of fire-zoning and use-zoning laws contributte to the safety and the appearance of his city. He must also satisfy the public and the professional men of his city insofar as he possibly can. He must deal with high-salaried, hand-picked material organization representatives.

This responsibility of the building official for building better cities begins with the approval of the plot plan and location of the building on the property and continues through a complicated series of inspections, involving many skills, to the ultimate occupancy certificate. Between these two extremes he must cover, even for the simplest dwelling 696 inspection points by actual count.

On a commercial building, involving such special techniques as engineered timber construction, reinforced brick work or other special construction he must cover 851 points on these phases alone, and when he inspects for public assembly occupancies he has the responsibility for a highly complicated inspecttion routine involving between three and four hundred inspection routine involving the actual construction points previously mentioned. If he has the responsibility for mechanical inspections he must inspect for 416 additional points covering plumbing, electrical, heating and ventilating, refrigeration and air conditioning. In all there are over 2,000 inspection points with which he must be familiar.

What City Expects

Now what does the city expect of the building official? Here are some of the skills your building official must have to help in the great cause of building better cities.

1. He must have efficient organization in both office and field for expediting the physical inspection of buildings. He must be a good organizer and must have excellent personal qualifications and a good background of professional knowledge and ethics. He must be personally effective. In other words, he must be a good administrator.

2. He must have a sound knowledge of legal requirements involving specific use- and fire-zone laws, and must be able to keep his city out of court cases and try not to be drawn in as a witness unless it is necessary. In other words, he must have knowledge of building law.

3. He must be able to recognize the need for soil tests, since a building is only as good as its foundation and the foundation is only as good as the soil which carries it. In other words, he must have knowledge of foundation engineering.

4. The inspector must be able to set up procedures which will assure unfailing protection for workmen and the public during excavatiton and building operatitons. In other words he must be a safety engineer.

Knowledge of Construction

5. He must have a knowledge of construction based upon good design, good materials, and good workmanship. He must be well grounded in the fundamentals of (a) wood frame construction, (b) brick construction, (c) concrete construction, (d) steel construction, including a working knowledge of erection methods involving connections in steel beams, welding, etc.; (e) he must know how to inspect for quality of material, over-all design, design detail, new types of construction including the highly complicated tilt-up and lift-slab reinforced concrete techniques.

In other words, he must be a good structutral engineer (if not by college degree, by experience.)

6. He must know how to inspect in detail for fire, health and safety features as related to the occupancy of the building. This brings in a group of skills involving knowledge of the fire laws, health laws, and a complete and detailed knowledge of the building code itself. He must be a building code specialist.

7. The building inspector must know how to inspect for fire-resistive standards, involving acceptable materials, protection of structural members, fire-resistive assemblies, fire resistive time periods. In other words he must be a fire-protection engineer.

8. He must know how to inspect commercial and industrial chimneys, metal smoke stacks, commercial incinerators, furnaces, flues, vents and fireplaces. In other words he must be a heating and ventilating engineer.

9. In many cases he must take on the added work of inspection of the mechanical installations, involving a knowledge of plumbing, electrical wiring, heating and ventilating, air-conditioning and refrigeration. In othter words he must be a mechanical engineer.

10. In performing all of these functions the building official is expected to maintain good relaions with the architect, the engineer, the contractor, the general public and his fellow city employees. In other words he must be a public relations expert.

In carrying out these specific functions, the building official must at all times have the future good of his city at heart. He must have his roots deep in the civic affairs of his city; he must take an interest in housing codes, city planning, zoning and all subjects evenly remotely connected with his work in the building department.

Some people move across the country, some move across town, and then there are others who move just across the street. Of course then we have guys like Al Conley and Les Harmon who moved across the street and then moved back on the same lot, but what a difference in the building. Just in case your slightly confused jumping back and forth across Campbell Avenue, the new office address is 232 E. Campbell Ave., corner of Second Street.

Whether you are going to be one of the new June brides or a homemaker of many years—you will be sure to find many uses for the rug samples that are being offered by The House of Carpets & Furniture. They will add a "bright note" to any room and add precious protection to those hardwood floors. A wonderful value! If you are planning on carpeting, or wall to wall, the staff at the House of Carpets are very able to do a job that will give your home that "magazine picture look".

Walking under a ladder, they say, is bad luck — but you will be "in luck" if you take advantage of Strong Paint Co.'s house paint sale! If your home is in need of a "new look", now is the time to see the Strong Family for all your painting problems — just make one stop—they've made it easy for you — paint, ladder and roller are offered at a terrific value!

Score another first for Campbell! Blendwell Interiors gets this point with their offer to wall to wall carpet your home and drape your windows for less than $500. The beauty part of the package deal is that the drapes are custom made and you have a very large variety of colors and textures to choose from; not to mention the fact that you can get these on the easy pay plan, nothing down 36 months to pay. Better give Mr. Kagel a call and have him measure up the house for that new look.

Is anybody actually buying color sets? Neal Timmons, owner of the TV Standard, says it's pretty hard to keep up with the demand. If you are one of those interested in statistics, Neal says that it is estimated that 750,000 will be in use at the end of the year —by 1960 the number is projected to 12,000,000. How about that? Every time we see the NBC peacock, the trademark of a color show. The impact of color in the living room is unbelieveable. Why not visit TV Standard soon and see for yourself—you are always welcomed.

Bob Long and Bill Jensen have decided the walls of their Campbell Cambrian Cyclery can not be pushed out any further . . . so it was decided to move to a larger building. Their new location is only steps away from their present spot, just around to 15 So. 3rd St. Here they will be able to display their Schwinn bikes, tricycles and it will give them more space in which to do their repairing, they're experts at it. In fact their used reconditioned bikes are guaranteed.

You don't have to go to cloud nine to find that house you've been thinking about. Harrison Realty has a 2 bedroom and family room listed that's a knockout! Outdoor living on the Patio with barbeque can really be enjoyed during these beautiful days and evenings. Why don't you make arrangements to show this to the entire family,

Now for the first time in Campbell, and only at the American Auto supply, can you buy a life-time muffler for your car. This muffler is so designed that it increases power and gas mileage, reduces back pressure and eliminates objectionable noise. Bob Kelly says, that written guarantee goes with every unit, and the best part of all is that the cost is less than the average stock muffler. So if you own a late model car, you can go in and buy your last muffler.

Here you'll find just about everything you'll need to make your yard the showplace of the neighborhood . . .brick, cement, sand outdoor furniture of all types, barbecue materials.

Brad Fregger Takes Presidency; Three New Council Candidates Win

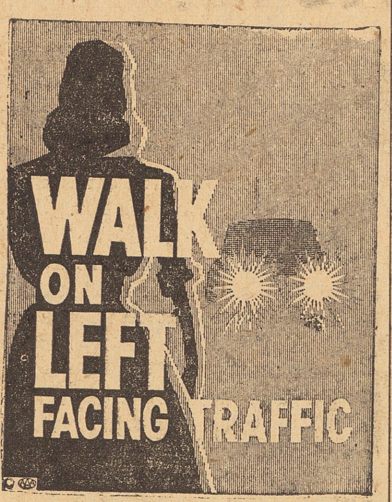
Brad Fregger, junior, was elected president of the Camden student body in the most spirited election yet held on the Camden campus, on Thursday, May 23. In the same election, three newcomers to the council defeated several former council members to take the three council seats which were up for decision. Elected to the council were Jerry Gutman, sophomore, Ruth Nishijima, junior, and Don Huebner, sophomore.

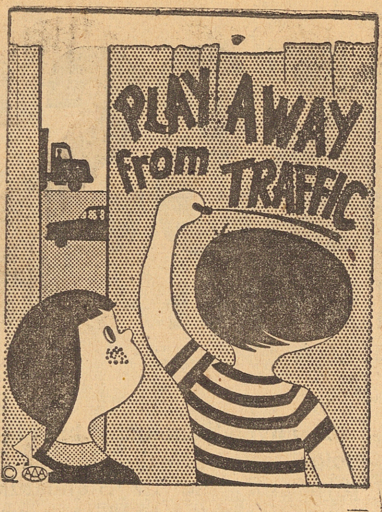
A record 73 percent of the student body cast votes in the hotly contested election. The sophomore class took top honors with 80 per cent voting; juniors followed with 76 per cent, while freshmen trailed with 65 per cent. Election officials gave credit for the large turnout to a campus-wide get-out-the-vote drive and to the lively campaigning done on behalf of the candidates.

Brad, the new president, campaigned with posters, pin-cards and balloons. His campaign also featured brass bands, buttonholing and impromptu soap-box meetings. His opponent, Dennis Randazzo, sophomore also had many posters, pin-cards and impromptu meetings.

Meantime, the campaign for the council seats was featured by exciting posters and buttonholing. Daily, in the cafetorium, the competition grew as to which candidate should have the most outstanding poster in the most outstanding spot.

The elected officials will take office for the fall semester.





WINNER 12TH NATIONAL SAFETY POSTER CONTEST

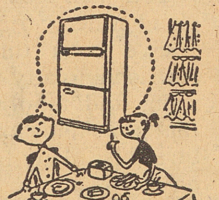
So this is HOMEMAKING
Winona Riley

A helpful husband is a good thing to have at times, but not so good at other times. Like last night, when Bill insisted on doing the dishes. He wouldn't even let me clear the table—said he'd clean up while I relaxed.

It was a great idea last night. But this morning I discovered that Bill had put some uncovered green onions in the refrigerator.

Bill noticed at breakfast that the butter had a new and different flavor so I tried to explain about how certain foods, if left uncovered, transfer flavors and odors to other foods in the refrigerator.

"I get it," he said suddenly. "That's what the salesman was talking about when he showed me the RCA Whirlpool refrigerator-freezer yesterday. To combat the transfer of food odors and tastes, this unit has an exclusive air purifying system with an ultra-violet lamp to retard bacteria growth and a fan to circulate sanitized cold air around the foods."



I managed to ask, "Why this sudden interest in refrigerators?"

Bill grinned sheepishly. "Ever since I helped you defrost and spilled water all over the floor, I've been looking at the new refrigerators with automatic defrost. We need something bigger anyway, and this one even has a separate freezer at the bottom."

Imagine Bill shopping for a new refrigerator during his lunch hour! I must say, though, his taste is excellent—whether he's considering refrigerators or butter . . .

Soft Sheer Bonnets for Summer

Any member of the wedding party or wedding guest will like this Helen Joyce turban of draped maline in two shades of pastel blue. The mesh face veil will be particularly flattering to her complexion too. Pretty sheer hats of this type in pastel colors are perfect for the Mother of the Bride for summer weddings. (Style #655)

Faculty Wives Install Officers

Mrs. Charles Crampton was installed president when the Faculty Wives Club of Camden High School held its annual nomination and election of officers at the home of Mrs. Phil Maxfield recently. Mrs. Jay Russell, retiring president, turned over her gavel to the new president at installation ceremonies which followed the election.

Other new officers are: Mesdames Donald Campbell, vice-president; William Allman, recording secretary; Will Crosby, corresponding secretary; James Gillespie, treasurer.

Corsages were presented to the new officers by outgoing officers. Refreshments and cards followed the buiness meeting.

The annual family picnic held jointly with Campbell Faculty Wives to be held June 8 at Seacliff Beach near Santa Cruz, will be potluck and start at 10 a.m.

Light Opera Assn. Stages "Finian's Rainbow" in July

The Oakland Light Opera Association will stage "Finian's Rainbow" July 12, 13, 19 and 20 at Woodminster Amphitheater as its first musical comedy of the 1957 summer season.

Edgar Iverson, the Association's assistant director, portrays the genial Finian McLonergan who steals a pot of gold from the leprechauns of his native "Emerald Isle" and brings it to America with the idea of burying it near Fort Knox, as he has heard that Americans bury their gold there and it mysteriously multiplies.

Tom Swift of Oakland, plays the capering leprechaun "Og" who comes to America in search of his pot of gold.

Tickets are now on sale at the theater or can be obtained from Sherman Clay Music Company. A series tickets entitles the holder to the same reserved seat for each producion, "Finian's Rainbow"; The Merry Widow", August 9, 10, 16 and 17; and "The New Moon", September 13, 14, 20 and 21.

Students Receive VFW Awards for Winning Essays

Three Campbell High School students received awards Tuesday from Veterans of Foreign Wars, Byron Lanphear Auxiliary 6305, for the prize-winning essays on Americanism. The presentations were made by Mrs. Jonnie McFall, past president at a school assembly.

First prize of $15 and a bronze medal went to Susan Koester; Frances Heinz received a second prize of $10, and Alan Peters received $5 as third prize.

At the auxiliary's meeting Tuesday night it was announced that a cake sale would be held Saturday, June 8, at Field's Grocery beginning at 10 a.m. All kinds of baked goods will be on sale.

Other business included election of delegates and alternates to the District Encampment at Fresno June 17-20, and reports on auxiliary activities the last two weeks.

Delegates to the convention are Mrs. Adeline Gagliasso and Mrs. Virginia Silvan. Alternates are Mrs. Edith Smith and Mrs. Jonnie McFall.

Mrs. Alice Keyes, president, reported she had presented a flag to Spanish-American Sons and Daughters of '98, No. 32, last Saturday, and that Mrs. Edith Smith, Dick Bernel and she had given a party May 15 for about 90 patients at Agnew.

Westhills Club Gives Dinner For Contest Winners

Westhills Service Club has a sure-fire method for accumulating rummage. Before its last rummage sale, members were divided into two teams, the Eager Beavers and the Go-Getters. The purpose of this contest was to see which team could bring in the most rummage; the losers to give a dinner to the winners.

As a result, the Eager Beavers dined well in the month of May at a dinner given them by the losers at the home of Mrs. Hector Daves with Mrs. Richard Drew as co-hostess for the evening. Chairman of the dinner was Mrs. Robert Boltz.

Three new members welcomed into the club at that time were Mrs. Robert King, Mrs. Joseph Corcoran, and Mrs. Glenn Covell.

On Saturday, May 25, club members and their families joined with house mothers and children from Ming Quong home for a joint picnic at Sunnyvale Park. The group went swimming and played games before having a barbecue.

Kenneth Munson Weds Pearlene Lewis In Afternoon Double-Ring Ceremony

Now at home in Campbell after reciting wedding vows April 14 at the Congregational Church are Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Ward Munson. The late afternoon candlelight double-ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Corwin Olds.

The bride is the former Pearlene Lewis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Lewis, 567 W. Latimer Ave., Campbell, and sister of Mrs. Kenneth Casper of Myrtle Point, Oregon. She is a graduate of Campbell High School and attended San Jose Junior College. She is now employed by Rosicrucian Egyptian Museum.

Kenneth is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Munson, 218 Hardy Ave., Campbell, and brother of Dick and Miss Mary Munson. He also is a graduate of Campbell High School and at the present time is attending San Jose State College where he is an Industrial Arts major. He is employed in Mountain View.

For her wedding, Pearlene selectetd a floor-length gown with chantilly lace and net over a bouffant ruffled skirt and long-sleeved fitted lace bodice styled with scooped neckline. Her fingertip illusion veil depended from a coronet trimmed with seed pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of red roses centered with a white orchid when given in marriage by her father.

For the occasion, the church was banked with white stock and Easter lilies and pews marked with white satin ribbons and red and white carnations.

Matron of honor, Mrs. Jessie Brown, and bridesmaids, Misses Judy Norman and Mary Munson, wore identical bouffanted-skirted white nylon chiffon dresses with red nylon sashes drawn to a point in front with back bow and full length streamers. All bridal attendants wore rhinestone heart necklaces and matching earrings. The matron of honor carried a ring of white carnations centered with red and wore a matching crown. Bridesmaid's flowers and crown were speckled red and white carnatitons.

Mother of the bride, Mrs. Lewis, chose a dusty rose lace dress with matching accessories and a biege duster. Mrs. Munson, mother of the groom, wore a grey-blue dress with rose hat and gloves and black accessories. Both mothers pinned on white orchid corsages.

Duties of best man were performed by Dick Munson, brother of the groom. Ushers were Bill Dalzochio, Charles Prestigiacomo and Bill Ash.

Candlelighter was Miss Roxanna Aiello who wore a red polka-dotted white dress with red sash. Mrs. Jan Caginia was vocalist and Mrs. Sylvia Bush organist.

Approximately 280 guests attended the reception at Mary Ann Gardens where a buffet dinner preceded a dance and the newlyweds cut their six-tiered wedding cake.

When the young couple left for their honeymoon trip to Las Vegas and Lake Tahoe, the bride donned a blue suit with white accessories and pinned on an orchid from her bridal bouquet.

The bill, AB709 by Assemblyman William Biddick, Jr. (D-Stockton) also makes it a misdemeanor to obtain use of a party telephone by stating falsely it is needed for such an emergency. It specifies that future telephone directories must contain notice of these provisions.

Health Official Briefs Rotary on Smog Problems

Because it is walled in by mountains, Santa Clara Valley is a "sitting duck" for smog, Dr. Elwyn Turner of the County Health Department told Rotary members Monday. He explained that when fumes and smoke are trapped in the valley by a top layer of warm air the result is inversion, or smog.

Dr. Turner said a survey and report made by the health department brought out the necessity of inter-county cooperation on this problem and also established the danger level and determined sources of smog-producing units.

Chief causes were found to be auto exhaust, open burning of rubbish, sewage gas, and orchard spray. Of these, burning dumps have been eliminated, the new San Jose sewage plant has solved the gas situation, and trash collection has stopped most of the household burning.

Bill Would Stop Unsigned Letters

Capitol News Service

The assembly has approved and sent to the senate a bill making it illegal to send unsigned letters to newspapers or magazines seeking the defeat of political candidates.

The bill, AB3474 by Assemblyman Charles E. Chapel (R-Inglewood), provides it would be a misdemeanor to send, without true name and address, to a newspaper or magazine "any communication designed or intended to injure or defeat any candidate for nomination or election to any public office.

One member asked Chapel, if the letters were unsigned, how the culprits could be found.

"They brag around about it," Chapel said, "They'll hang themselves."

PLANNING ON PLANTING?

GARDENER'S CHECK LIST

By The California Association of Nurserymen

REMINDERS

1. Dwarf citrus make excellent tub plants. Here are plants that look good all through the year and as a bonus give fragrant flowers and deicious fruits.

2. Few plants are as colorful as the shade loving French Hydrangea. These can be planted into the garden now.

3. Buy only quality plant material. "Bargain" plants of questionable strain or cultural quality may not warrant the space and time allotted them.

4. You can plant these summer flowering shrubs at this time - Abelia, Lantana, Fuchsias Gardenia, Hibiscus, Escallonia Oleander and Rock Roses.

5. Water all trees and shrubs deeply and save water.

Plants For Total Shade

If you have an area of total shade in your garden, consider yourself fortunate, says the California Association of Nurserymen, take advantage of the situation by planting ferns and other plants that thrive in deep shade

Although there are some ferns that will survive in locales with only partial shade the majority of them prefer deep shade with a moist cool bed for their roots The most important cultural requirments for ferns, after shade are perfect drainage and soil that is well aerated to make room for spreading roots. Ferns often have a root spread comparable to their height or larger for example, a six foot fern can have a ten foot spread. The roots grow shallow and even above the ground so take care in planting to not place the roots too deep.

The ideal soil for growing ferns is a moist, leafy one; ferns can also be successfully grown in mixtures of fir and redwood sawdust or woodchips. These planting media will hold moisture for a long time. Fish meal added to the soil during the growing season is beneficial.

In pruning ferns it is best to wait until new growth has begun in spring before cutting back old fronds (branches). In the fall ferns make root growth and use food stored in old fronds. During the winter, the old fronds often fall and form a protective mulch for new spring growth. Wait until well after frost before cleaning up old fronds.

Ferns can be handsomely combined in shade plantings with azaleas, rhododendrons, fuchsias and camellias. Plant them under the deep shade of a group of trees, in dark corners against the house, or as a background for small shrubs. There are some ferns that grow tree-size and these are attractive in tubs or under high-branching trees.

There are many fern varieties to choose from; the Western Sword Fern (Polystichum munitum) is an evergreen, quite hardy, and grows attractively in tufts. For an interesting outline or silhouette, the unusual Hart's-Tongue (Phyllitis Scolopendrium) makes an attracttive planting. The Sensitive Fern (Onoclea sensibilis) forms a lush carpet of summer greenery. This is a creeping type of fern that prefers an extremely moist planting location.

Other plants that will give you a carpet of greenery in shade are the Carpet Bugle (Ajuga reptans), Baby's Tears (Helxine Soleirolii), the Jewel Mint of Corsica (Mentha Requienii) and the Yerba Buena (Micromeria Chamissonis).

The Carpet Bugle is fast growing, forming a thick mat, wih flowers of purple-blue or pink, suitable for non-traffic areas. Baby's Tears is a creeping, mosslike perennial herb with light green, round leaves and inconspicuous white flowers; it forms a thick mat but will not stand foot traffic.

The Jewel Mint of Corsica resembles Baby's Tears but it is slower-growing with purple or violet flowers and a delightful fragrance to its foliage when pinched or stepped on. This shade loving ground cover will tolerate some light foot traffic. Yerba Buena is a natitve perennial; it creeps as it grows with minty fragrant foliage and small white, lavender-tinted flowers. The Yerba Buena prefers deep shade with plenty of moisture and no foot traffic.

Clematis Armandii

The evergreen Clematis armandii has many attributes to recommend it to California gardeners and certainly one of the most outstanding is its attractive foliage which is a shiny green all year long.

Bloom period for the Clematis armandii is early spring to early summer; flowers are star-like, a glistening white, and the leaves grow in attractive pattern groups along the stems.

Plant the Evergreen Clematis where you can train it during the growing season, picking off the arms you don't want and leaving those you do to form interesting patterns. Train the Clematis along fence tops and rails, around entrances, etc.

The Clematis should be fairly well out in the open with sunshine for the majority of the day, the light coming from above at all times. The soil should be light and loamy, well fed with organic matter. Make sure it drains well. To make sure that the Clematis' roots are kept cool and moist at all times you can either grow a ground cover over them or keep them well mulched, suggests the California Association of Nurserymen.

When pruning the Clematis think of it as you do any other flowering woody plant; prune so that there will be new growth to produce blossoms each year. The Clematis will respond to heavy pruning by producing many new shoots which will bloom late. A light pruning produces more flowers high up on the vine and an early bloom.

Floribunda Roses

Would you like a flowering hedge . . . a border plant . . . a low-growing filler in a garden bed? Any of these roles the Floribunda Rose can fill to perfection for this modern type Rose grows low and full with a continuous show of blooms from early summer to early fall.

The Floribunda Rose has become more and more popular in recent years and many of the All America selections have been Floribundas; in fact, this year one of the winners is a Floribunda.

Floribundas do not require any more care than other types of Roses except perhaps more fertilizing; since they do bloom so profusely and for such a long time they require extra food.

In pruning the Floribunda particularly if you are growing it in hedge form, "high" pruning is recommended, says the California Association of Nurserymen. In high pruning the cuts should be made 18 to 30 inches above the ground and the oldest weakest canes should be completely removed. Pruning should be done, of course, during the Floribunda's dormant season.

Floribundas are available in reds, pinks, yellows, whites and blends of these colors. Floribundas in any of these colors will blend attractively in a perennial garden bed. They make handsome border plants and as flowering hedges they are unexcelled.

Capitol News Service

California husbands must continue not only to bring home the bacon but the trading stamps that are offered with it in many food markets.

The senate Finance committee, as predicted by Capitol News Service, has banished to an interim study a bill which would have regulated the trading stamp companies. The companies said the bill would have made it impossible for them to operate in California.

The measure, SB1137 by Sen. Charles Brown (D-Shoshone), had cleared the senate Governmental Efficiency committee.

Assemblyman Myron Frey (D-Dinuba announced he would drop similar legislation in the lower house. Frey had introduced bills in January but withheld action on them while waiting to see the outcome of Brown's bills. Another Brown bill, calling for an outright prohibition of trading stamps, had been dropped by its author.

The arrest records of these 1,551 cities reflect that youths under 18 represented 24.7 per cent of those arrested for robbery; 53.9 per cent of those arrested for burglary; and 50.4 per cent of those arrested for larceny.
